

Theatre Runs Red

A sinister nightmare hailing from Durban, Theatre Runs Red presents a macabre display of blackened death metal. Formed in early 2008, the Theatre is fronted by a malign leading lady whose vocal delivery ranges from pit growl lows to true black metal highs.

Theatre managed to win the annual Burn the Bands competition in Durban in late 2008 and is the first extreme metal band to have done so. The band aims to take its music to the corners of South Africa in 2009 and are intent on producing a full - length album in the near future.

A vast range of influences drive this band, ranging from the most ferocious death metal to the dirtiest black metal.

As you see in photographs, so they appear on stage. The Theatre is intent on making the skin crawl with each appearance, capturing the atmosphere of the theatres of yesteryear.

As the lights go dim, the Theatre Runs Red...
