

Warthane

Warthane was started in 2004 by Sean Gouws and operate from Alberton, South Africa.

Warthane play fast progressive thrash metal, laced with melodic death and black metal. Their sound is very unique in South Africa and that, combined with the band members' larger than life stage personalities and energy, have fans and supporters headbanging and moshing every time they take to the stage. Warthane thrive on excellence and continuously strive to better themselves, their music and their live performances, and are having a hell of a lot of fun doing it.

Warthane recorded their first album "Black Wings of Sorrow" in September 2006.

One of South Africa's hardest gigging metal bands, Warthane have gigged extensively throughout South Africa during 2006 and 2007 and will continue to do so.

Warthane have played most of the larger metal festivals in South Africa such as Mother Fudd (x3), the Summoning (x2), Grimfest (x2), From the Dark Metal Fest (x2), Sun to Moon (x2) and also non metal festivals such as Seasons Wither, Bellsfest, the Youth Festival, etc.

The quality of Warthane's music and their live performances have turned many a metal supporter into Warthane fans and they have also succeeded (and still are) in turning previously non metal supporters into Warthane and metal fans. This has resulted in the Warthane fan base doubling in size a few times over the past year.

Warthane released their second recording, the EP "Day 13" in the beginning of 2008 and so far have received very positive feedback on it. (check out Warthane interview on <http://www.myspace.com/fractalmetal> and <http://www.fractalmetal.co.za>).

The new Warthane album/DVD " The Gallows are Calling" will be released on 7 November 2008.
